BEEF TRUST TO FILE DEMURRER

Will Resist Injunction Issued Against the Packers.

APPEAL TO THE LAW

Claim Court Has No Right to Demand Inspection of Books.

TO TEST TRUST LAW

(Special By Scripps-McLae.)

Chicago, August 4.—Attorneys representing the alleged beef trust are today prepared to file a demurrer to the bill by virtue of which the federal court issued an injunction against the packers.

Law Unconstitutional

The packers are charged with conspiring to manipulate the market. Insufficiency and the unconstitutional nature of the anti-trust law and the denial of the court's right to compel packers to produce books in court for inspection are alleged in addition to the general denial of the whole bill.

Filled Soon

The demurrer will be filed as soon as the different defendants have had a chance to verify the charges.

STREET CAVE-IN CAUSES PANIC

Storm Loosens Earth, and Serious Results Are Feared by Householders.

New York, Aug. 4.—(Special).—A panic followed a cave-in in One Hundred and Forty-fifth street today in the height of the storm, and a dozen or more occupants of houses at 321 and 323 West One Hundred and Forty-fifth street fled in terror to the street, where they huddled, drenched to the skin for half of an hour. From the house line in front of 321 and 323 and for a space five feet beyond the curb line the street caved in to a depth of twelve feet, exposing the water mains and service pipes.

Fills With Water

The immense cavity immediately filled with water, and for a time it was thought that the two houses would collapse.

The occupants of the two houses were greatly alarmed by the darkness which preceded the storm. Seeing that the front walls of the foundations of the houses had been exposed by the cave-in the occupants became excited, and, fearing the houses would fall, a dozen or more fled to the center of the street, where they remained until assured all danger was past.

MORE MEN ARE NEEDED IN NAVY

An increase of fifteen thousand will be asked for very soon.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 4.—(Special).—Forty thousand men will comprise the enlisted force of the navy if Rear Admiral Henry C. Taylor, chief of the bureau of navigation can bring it about. In his next annual report Rear Admiral Taylor will recommend a substantial increase in the number of men authorized by law. The limit of enlistments now fixed is 25,500 and while this is sufficient for the present needs of the navy, it will not be high enough to permit the commissioning of ships under construction and which congress will authorize in the next few years.

More Men

For the two battleships and two armored cruisers recently appropriated for 2,500 men will be required. For the eighteen battleships built or under construction 9,805 men are required. Adding to this number the crews needed for the proposed battleships almost 11,000 men, nearly half of the present effective force, will be required to man this type of man of war alone.

Over 7,000

When all of the armored cruisers authorized are built by the United States will possess ten of this class and they will require 7,197 men properly to care for and fight them. The line of battleships, therefore, must have 17,000 men in order to go into action. Besides these ships, crews must be provided for ten monitors, twenty-seven cruisers, forty-six gunboats, sixty torpedo boat destroyers and torpedo boats, and a number of auxiliary vessels.

WISCONSIN OIL MEN ARE JUBILANT

State Chemist Declares Their Oil To Be of the Very Highest Grade.

Madison, Wis., August 4.—(Special)—Members of the Badger Oil and Gas company of which Secretary of State Froehlich is president and other state officers are principal owners, are greatly elated over a test of the oil from their No. 1 well made Saturday by State Chemist A. S. Mitchell, who after a careful analysis pronounced the oil fully equal to if not better than the oil from the Pennsylvania and West Virginia fields, with less residue.

Meet in New York

A meeting is to be held Aug. 12 in New York city of the producers in the Knox county field, where the Badger company's property is located, and officials of the Standard oil company to establish the grade of oil, and negotiate for a pipe line. Manager Surtees, and probably President Froehlich, also will represent the Badger company at this meeting.

Unless the Standard Company will make satisfactory figures the independent companies propose to put in a pipe line of their own to carry the oil to market. They are further strengthened in this determination by the fact that Chicago capitalists have decided to build a refinery in the Knox county field.

FLASH OF LIGHTNING REVEALS REAL HERO

Stunned by the Shock, Pilot Shows His Fortitude by Remaining at the Helm.

(Special By Scripps-McLae.)

Marion, Ind., Aug. 4.—A Chicago cereal manufacturer has been in charge of the Western Strawboard company's mills at Bay City for forty-eight hours testing a secret process of manufacturing paper from oat hulls.

The man who discovered the process has been working on it for three years. The factory is closed to all except those required to operate the mill.

The workmen say the inventor is satisfied and that an excellent quality of paper was made, but the process was so secretly conducted that the workmen were unable to discover any part of it. It is said a better quality of paper can be made from the hulls than that manufactured from straw and at from $8 to $10 less a ton.

Resist Police

When the police forced their way into the Armory the rioters threw articles of furniture at them and bloodshed was narrowly averted by the cooler heads. Several members of the regiment were arrested and taken to the city lock-up.

BABIES KILLED BY POOR MILK

New York Physician Makes a Statement as to the Milk Supply.

New York, August 4.—(Special).—Dr. Henry N. Reed, professor of children's diseases at the Long Island college hospital, tonight called the attention to the great mortality among infants in Brooklyn. He said:

"In my opinion the high death rate among children is due to improper food, coupled with intense heat. It is of prime importance to a child that the milk it gets is pure or, as the doctors would put it, free from bacteria."

Poor Milk

"Milk is the most susceptible of articles that we know of to climatic changes, and in hot weather it is almost impossible to get milk which shall be free from bacteria.

"The difference in the quality of milk supply in Manhattan and Brooklyn probably accounts to some extent for the difference in the death rate among infants in Brooklyn and Manhattan. But this alone does not appear to be sufficient fully to account for it. The use of sterilized, or pasteurized, milk in the case of the poor and ignorant, or simply boiled milk, helps to check diseases among infants in hot weather."

GIDEONS HOLD SUNDAY SERVICES

CHRISTIAN TRAVELING MEN CON.
DUCT UNION SERVICES.

A SERMON ON GOD'S POWER

F. A. Garlick of Chicago, and C. P.
W. Nims of Boston, Were the Speakers.

After an intermission of several weeks fair weather again permitted holding the Sunday evening union service of the churches in the Court House park. The Gideons were in charge of the meeting and the speakers were listened to with great interest by a large audience. The traveling men's addresses were characterized by a directness and force which was very effective.

Music was furnished by a brass quartette and a male quartette, the services of both of whom were especially outdoors with no organ to lead the singing.

Chicago Speaker

Frank A. Garlick of Chicago was the first of the traveling men to address the meeting. In his opening words he referred to the children of Israel at that time in their wanderings when Moses left them and went upon the top of the mountain to talk with God. At this point Mr. Garlick commented on the fact that it was only on the mountain top, above the level of the sordid and gross of life that one may converse with God.

While Moses was talking with God the children of Israel began to be disheartened. They thought of the flesh pots of Egypt which they had left behind them and they berated Moses for bringing them out on a journey that was beset with hardships. Their grumbling and complaints even went so far as to assert that God had left them and they cried out, "Up, make us Gods; for as for this Moses we want to know what is become of him."

This is the incident which the speaker desired to emphasize, the difference between spiritual and tangible worship. The wanderers on this way to the promised land had never seen God and so when Moses left them they immediately believed themselves wholly forsaken. Instead of that they should have looked out and through Moses to the eternal Father who was behind him and speaking through him. The teaching to be drawn from this is that the children of God have no right to depend only on those things that are absolutely tangible.

Many who are in the church today make the same cry because they have lost faith in God and they wish something, they know not what, which they can lay hold upon and feel with their hands.

The next step of the part of the children of Israel was to make a decree that their gold, and silver and precious stones should be brought together that they might supply their deficiency by making themselves a God. They felt a longing for something tangible and they hoped that this god that they were to make would lead them up out of the land where they were. They had been in Egypt so long that the moment Moses forsook them they returned to the idolatrous customs they had followed in the land of bondage.

The Golden Calf

When the golden calf was completed the whole people rushed to it down before it even as men do now. When they begin to backslide from the Christian life their immediate impulse is to rush back to their old ways and the sins that they had previously practiced.

It is not worship for that which represents him, but for himself, that God wants. He asks for love and faith and adoration for himself alone. In return for this adoration he offers power. If a man give the same adoration to God as he does to other Gods, if the Israelites had worshipped the Lord rather than the golden calf they would have felt that which alone is true and tangible. Worship of Christ, the Lord, is the only thing that is true and lasting. It is to that that the invitation is extended to all to come.

If one will only break away from the sins that surround him in this life and give himself a sacrifice whatever the difficulties of the way, the blessing that is to come down from the mountain top will not be lost as it was with the Israelites. The safe course is to trust in the one who so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son that who soever believeth on him should not perish, but have eternal life.

Boston Speaker

C. P. W. Nims of Boston, followed Mr. Garlick with an earnest plea to take up that which alone can satisfy all desires and bring perfect satisfaction. His address was largely made up of anecdotes, each with a very definite point, all tending to show the obligation to the Father and the advantages coming from his worship.

Drummers were referred to in the opening of his talk as a class who were a few years ago commonly held to have nothing to do with Christianity. Now in a large part, through the influence of the Gideons, Christian travelling men were coming out openly for God.

There are those who are tired of life who feel that there is nothing to live for. It is because they are living the Christless life. The happiest person is he whose God is the Lord, whatever his rank or position may be. The duty of serving God is as strong in one place as another, and the devil is resisting equally strongly to his service. There are those who believe that they are going away from their surroundings they may escape but the devil is as strong in Colorado as in Boston.

Strength is shown by standing firm and being the man at the lathe or the workbench, regardless of what companions may think. It is easy to profess to be a man but it is extremely hard to be a man. Yet there is more pleasure in the hour under Christ than a lifetime in the ranks of the devil.

The man in the striped shirt behind the bars at Waupun is more free than the youth who walks the streets of Janesville on whom the devil has a mortgage. The difference between man worship and God worship is antipodal. It is the difference between slavery and freedom.

Minstrels Tonight.

The best evidence of the strength of a minstrel company is its street parade, and yet the enormous daily pageant made by Gideon's Big Minstrel Carnival fails to give an adequate idea of the magnitude of its stage performance, which, in point of novelty, genuine merit and excellence, is, unapproachable. Thirty-five people constitute the roster, including a score of big specialty acts, acrobatic feats and desert sports, a host of comedians, singers, dancers, wire walkers, expert musicians and a spectacular finale brimming over with unbounded fun. Every detail has been attended to. A magnificent orchestra furnishes the best music for the stage performance. Rich and gorgeous wardrobe is used to attract advantage, while a carload of electrical effects and special scenery is carried for the production. This big production will be seen at The Myers Grand tonight.

WAS THE MONEY LOST OR STOLEN?

ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS GONE

Contractor Named Davis Loses an Envelope with Money, in a Crowd.

A carpenter by the name of Davis, living at 155 Locust street, lost $100, which he had in an envelope in his pants' pocket, while watching the trick bicycle rider on Saturday night.

Paid in Advance

Davis had a contract to build a barn for a man near Emerald Grove and had just received the money on his contract. He put $100 in a large envelope, addressed it to Catherine Davis, Emerald Grove, and stuck it down in his overall pocket. He said that while he stood in the crowd watching the trick rider he kept his hand on the envelope all the time so no one could get it.

Misses Money.

A short time after he had left the crowd and started for home he put his hand in his pocket and his envelope and money were gone. He immediately went back to the Myers house corner in hopes of finding the money but was unsuccessful.

Money is Gone

He was not certain whether he lost the money or whether some one picked his pocket.

GREW TWO CROPS OF NEW POTATOES

James Burke Has Harvested His Second Batch This Summer.

James Burke, who resides at 155 Mineral Point avenue, has just placed in his cellar two bushels of large potatoes, which represent the second crop this year, being the product of four quarts of new potatoes planted by Mr. Burke on the fifteenth of May. The potatoes are of the Alpine Flora variety and are not only large in size, but are of excellent quality. They are smooth skinned, the eyes are well filled out and the potatoes are thoroughly ripened. It is certainly an unusual occurrence to harvest the second crop of potatoes on the first of August, half back.

SUNDAY SERVICES AT THE Y. M. C. A.

A Joint Meeting of the Murphy League and the Gideons Was Held.

One hundred and sixty-five attended the joint meeting of the Murphy League and the Gideons at the Y. M. C. A. building Sunday afternoon. Women and children were invited to be present and made up one-half of the audience.

The speakers of the afternoon were J. H. Nicholson, of this city, national secretary of the Gideons; F. A. Garlick, of Chicago, national president of the same organization, and C. P. W. Nims, of Boston. As has been the custom for some time past there was a short parliament at the close of the regular speeches in which several members of both organizations in charge of the meeting took part. The addresses were characterized, as were those by two of the same speakers at the union service, by brevity and force, and an enthusiasm that showed that the men were thoroughly in earnest.

THROW STONES
AT THE MILITIA
PROVOKED BY ORDER TO HALT

Sentry's Challenge Answered by Shower of Missiles—Gen. Goblin Issues Ball Cartridges and Instructs the Men to Use Them.

Shenandoah, Pa., Aug. 4.—Brig. Gen. Goblin has ordered the guards and sentries of the regiments on service here to fire upon any gangs of men who attack them with volleys of stones from ambush.

The entire Eighth regiment was called to arms during Saturday night as a result of three attacks made by a band of men who threw stones at the troops now in camp on the plateau outside the town.

A double guard supplied with ball cartridges surrounds the camp and the sentries have been instructed that if stone throwing is repeated they must shoot to kill and investigate afterwards.

One of the attacking party, a Lithuanian named William Stoponitz, is under arrest.

Attack a Sentry.

The first attack was made at 10:45 o'clock Saturday night. Private Payne of company I, on sentry duty, saw a party of men on the Mahony City road, which separates the camp of the Eighth regiment from the Twelfth. He commanded the men to halt and called the corporal of the guard, but before the latter could respond a shower of stones were thrown at the sentry. One stone struck him on the chest, knocking him down and causing his gun to fall from his hands. He jumped and fired several shots in the air. One of the pickets captured Stoponitz as he came running down the road.

Camp is Aroused.

The shooting aroused the whole camp and the Eighth regiment was put under arms and companies B, E, and K were immediately out in skirmish lines. The regiment was then called to quarters and fifteen minutes later another shower of stones was thrown at the stable guard, which is located south of the Eighth regiment.

Shortly after 3 o'clock Sunday morning the third and last attack was made, and it was of such a nature that the bugler, under orders from Col. Hoffman, sounded the whole regiment to arms. This time the stable guard was again the object of the attack. Stones in volleys were thrown at the guard, and at the sentries near by.

The sentries fired about a dozen shots into the bushes, but no one was hit.

Prisoner is Examined.

The Eighth regiment, Col. Hoffman said, was under arms and ready for action in three minutes. Col. Hoffman made a full report to Brig. Gen. Goblin. He put Stoponitz through a searching examination. The prisoner said there were only four men in the body. He gave the name of one of them as Michael Lavotz and said he did not know who the others were.

The brigadier general said he had issued orders that stringent measures be taken with all such offenders.

Orders Ball Cartridges.

"I have ordered several rounds of ball cartridges to be issued to each sentry," he said, "and that the officers of the guard be instructed to have them used. The guard at the camp will also be increased."

To Adopt Stamp Tax.

To bring this loan within the terms of the Platt amendment and other provisions of the Cuban constitution, the present congress, before adjourning, will provide a way to pay interest and will establish a sinking fund to redeem the principal. This will probably be done by means of a stamp tax like the United States war revenue act of 1898, to pay the expenses of the same war.

Any balance of the loan will be applied to agriculture at the discretion of congress.

The foregoing has been substantially approved by congress, only the details remaining for discussion, which will begin Monday in public session.

Has No National Debt.

It is said here that such a loan can be negotiated and taken care of without great difficulty. It will be Cuba's only national debt and can be paid off about $2,000,000 or $3,000,000 annually.

Before the last war Cuba paid $10,000,000 in annual interest alone on Spanish Cuban bonds. There have been 128 business failures in the last twelve months, against twenty-three the year before.

CUBAN CONGRESS TO AID PLANTERS

MONEY FOR SUGAR GROWERS

Thirty-five Million Dollars the Amount Sought, Which Will Be Distributed in Proportion to Amount of Cane Produced.

Havana, Aug. 4.—The first important work of the Cuban congress is approaching a conclusion after sitting of a little more than two months. The senate has prepared the way for circulating $35,000,000 throughout the island by substantially approving the house bill on this subject.

The money, it is believed, will have the effect of relieving considerably the present crisis. The Cuban congress considers it advisable to aid the sugar planters, pending President Roosevelt's efforts to obtain reciprocity at the next session of the American congress.

To Pay Junta's Debts.

The necessity is also recognized of paying the debts contracted by the Cuban junta of New York in aid of the last revolution and to pay the liberating army.

Authority has been granted for the appointment of a commission to fix and pay the amount due the army. General Maximo Gomez will probably be the chairman.

President Palma will be authorized to borrow $35,000,000 in American gold and issue national thirty-year 5 per cent bonds within six months. About $4,000,000 will be applied to the aid of the cane growers and the agricultural and cattle industry generally.

Will Loan the Money.

The money will be loaned at the rate of 50 cents for every 2,500 pounds of sugar grown in the last crop.

It is to be repaid in February,

March or April next year, drawing 6 per cent interest.

The bondholders will have the custom house receipts as guarantee for the repayment of the amount.

President Palma will be authorized to increase the tariff duties on certain articles accordingly.

For the payment of debts contracted by the New York junta to support the revolution $3,000,000 will be given and for payment of the services of the army $23,000,000.

To Adopt Stamp Tax.

To bring this loan within the terms of the Platt amendment and other provisions of the Cuban constitution, the present congress, before adjourning, will provide a way to pay interest and will establish a sinking fund to redeem the principal. In the independent, a weekly publication from the east, an instructor named Adams, from the State University, paid by the state to teach the youth of the state to grow in good and honest citizens, takes occasion to discuss the political situation in Wisconsin. Not only does he discuss the political situation, but he casts slurs at one of its greatest citizens in a back handed manner that should meet the just reproof of the head of the state institution if not of the regents themselves.

The article is laudatory of Governor Robert M. LaFollette. In this the writer can not be taken to task. Governor LaFollette is the choice of the delegates of the people of Wisconsin of Republican faith for their next Governor. He has been nominated and will have the support of the Republican party. What Mr. Adams said of the Governor was most complimentary. He stated many of the little traits of character of the Governor that go up to make him the idol of his supporters. In this he was right and within his powers, but when he stated generalities and gave rumors for facts regarding Senator Spooner, he should have been careful of his premises and confined himself to the praise of LaFollette.

Mr. Adams is a stranger in the state political field. He is not known to the leaders of either the Republican or Democratic parties. He is at present teaching the students of the State University what he has but recently been taught in his own Alma Mater. While he may be a bright man and well able to treat and teach students under him, he should not attempt to state to the reading public matters that he has simply heard talked of and knows nothing definite of.

Senator Spooner is an alumnus of the State University long before the present governor was through the grammar school of his home town. Senator Spooner was a man, a soldier and lawyer before Mr. Adams had yet fully learned his? A. B.'s. He was a statesman known to the world at large, before the Governor had entered the political field and for a man of the younger generation to make such veiled allusions to trickery on the part of Senator Spooner should not pass unnoticed.

Mr. Adams is doubtless a young man whose enthusiasm for the governor has allowed folly to run away with his better sense and true fitness of affairs. He has said things that even the bitterest political enemies of Senator Spooner have not hinted at. They have not dared to belittle him but have simply placed a hedge about him like dogs baying a lion to annoy him.

A bride in a Polish settlement in Glenrose, danced with 257 men at her wedding reception. The men broke plates with silver dollars for the privilege. The idea is an old one with the Poles, but might be adapted in even more civilized communities. Incidentally the guests ate two whole oxen, two pigs and eighty kegs of beer. It was a jolly time.

La Crosse is the home of Shorty Lush, and of the Chronicle that is one of the bitterest of the factional papers the governor controls. It is also the home of a man who paid thirty dollars for a tin rooster that was to turn red before every storm. He paid thirty dollars for his find and then the rooster refused to work. He went to get his thirty back and found that the salesman had made three hundred out of it. This may explain some of the articles that appear in the Chronicle if that is the fool class Lush has to cater to.

La Crosse jeered at Janesville sometime ago because some of its young ladies went on a picnic and wore bloomers. They were lady like and had a good time. La Crosse society girls had a picnic and wore bloomers also. They are described as the elite of the city and then is added that they had a pitched battle with the rude boys that wanted to peek at them.

Maurice Goodman, editor of the State Register of Portage, has his party platform and candidate at the head of the editorial column, "For United States Senator, John C. Spooner, Platform." "The man and His Record." This is a platform that all republicans can tie to and be content to let primary bills rest in the oblivion they were cast two years ago.

Major Low of New York has taken the right step in investigating the anti-Jew riots in New York and it is the wish of every law abiding citizen that the investigation will amount to something that will act as a lesson against future riots of that nature.

Uncle Sam really wants to stop cruelties to the poor natives at the Philippines he can start in and have a little practice stopping the lynchings in the back door of his national capital in Virginia.

The Sheboygan Telegram heads its second page with a big black typed party platform: "For United States Senator, John C. Spooner." The paper is enthusiastic as well as right in its principles.

The red wood tree found in California that measures over fifty feet across is on government land and thus will be saved the ax of some enterprising Yankee who needs the money.

Daily bulletins from Kentucky remind the reader of the daily reports from Lord Kitchener when he was wiping the earth with the Boers yet not killing any of them.

Mayor Ames of Minneapolis, has decided to step down from his place as mayor. Evidently the Ames family have made enough out of politics to retire.

Incidentally everyone is helping the operators keep up their end of the coal struggle. Coal has gone up 10 per cent again.

Rockefeller, Noble and Rothschild have come to an agreement just which part of the world they will each control and live in.

PRESS COMMENT

Beloit Free Press: "Spooner Clubs" are being formed in many localities in the state. There has been a "Spooner club" in Beloit several years and practically every Republican has joined it.

Tomah Monitor: The New York Press says the Wisconsin Republicans endorsed Senator Spooner with a sandbag. No, the Republicans didn't. They have yet to speak and when they do, Spooner will be vindicated.

Whitewater Register: The candidates nominated on the Republican ticket are mostly good men and good Republicans, but it is a misfortune for them that they have to stand on such a caricature of a platform as is provided for them.

Racine Journal: The reply of Chairman Bryant to Gen. Winkler is quite soothing, very pacific in tone, but yet insistent. The main question propounded remains unanswered other than by saying while a man can retain his personal opinions, yet subscribing to the platform is his duty as a Republican.

Sioux Falls, S. D. Press: Senator Spooner, of Wisconsin, is a man without a party. He has been read out, along with his associate stalwarts, Jud LaMourre, of North Dakota, was, a few years ago, by solemn edict, read out of his party. Now he is its absolute boss. It is a harmless diversion—reading men out.

Eau Claire Leader: If Senator Spooner was running for the presidency, the people of the state could not be more enthused about him. Spooner clubs are being organized everywhere. The electors are determined that LaFollette shall be governor, and are equally determined that John C. Spooner shall be United States Senator of the great State of Wisconsin.

Tomah Monitor: "If you don't like the Stevens primary election plank; if you don't like the tax measures; if you don't like the conditional endorsement of John C. Spooner; and if you don't like populism or LaFollettism, don't support the ticket," are the orders from General Bryant, sponsor of Gov. LaFollette, and chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, to all Republicans who are opposed to any of these measures! Funny campaign isn't it?

Eau Claire Leader: The statesmanship displayed by Senator Spooner and his eminent services to the country, have drawn forth the warmest expressions of admiration from the entire press of the country. They all express astonishment that a Republican convention, representing the great and enlightened state of Wisconsin, should connive at the humiliating of such a man, and should try to compass his defeat by sinister means. They consider that the delegates must have been afflicted with some wretched mental disease.

Minneapolis Journal: The Iowa Republicans have agreed on a liberal tariff plank. They do not propose to have any dangerous monopoly shelter itself in the folds of the good old republican policy of protection. So much of the policy as affords such shelter is obsolete, believe the Iowa republicans, and there are millions of good republicans in the nation who will say, Amen.

St. Paul Dispatch: Former Secretary of the Interior Vilas, of President Cleveland's cabinet, urges his fellow-democrats to get onto the tariff issue and ride it hard. He is very severe, in his coldly classical way against it and trusts. And yet it was this same Mr. Vilas who came out to the Chicago convention in 1882 with a tariff plank that roared the tariff as gently as a sucking dove; one prepared by Mr. Cleveland, and which he urged upon the convention in a set speech of some duration. The elements that outside showed their opposition in flashing lightning and deafening rolls of thunder, sympathized with the element inside that took the plank and made kindling wood of it. But Mr. Cleveland restored it in his letter of acceptance.

MISS PHOEBE FISH BECOMES A BRIDE

WEDS. A. L. KELLOGG OF RACINE

Marriage Ceremony Was Performed Yesterday at the Home of the Bride's Brother.

Sunday afternoon at half after one o'clock there was a quiet home wedding at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Fish, 358 Ravine street, the high contracting parties to the marriage ceremony being Miss Phoebe L. Fish, of this city, sister of the host, and Anson Lawrence Kellogg, of Racine. The wedding was a very quiet one, only the relatives and a few friends being present.

Rev. J. T. Henderson, pastor of the Presbyterian church was the officiating clergyman and the parlor in which the ceremony was performed, were beautified with cut flowers.

There was no set form of decoration attempted, but everywhere, there were great bunches of fragrant blossoms, one room being done entirely in sweet pease, another in nasturtiums and the third in golden glow.

There were no bridal attendants. The bride was attired in a rich and becoming costume of dark blue etamine with trimmings of heavy applique lace and velvet. The ceremony was followed by a wedding dinner.

The bride has resided in this city since childhood and is a graduate of the Janesville High school. For a number of years she has been in the employ of J. M. Bostwick & Sons.

Mr. Kellogg has been in the employ of Case & Co., of Racine for many years and is in prosperous circumstances. He and his bride left last evening on the 4:50 train for Racine where they went at once to housekeeping in their new home.

Many friends gathered at the depot last evening to shower farewells, good wishes and a few incidental grains of rice and old shoes on the happy couple, who made no attempt to escape this manifestation of good will.

A welcome awaited Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg at their Racine home, a company of neighbors and friends having gathered to tender them an informal reception.

Among the guests from out of the city at the wedding were Miss Ida Fish, of Chicago, sister of the bride; Ed. Fish, brother of the bride, and daughter, Miss Ethel Fish, Miss Pearl Richmond and Frank Kellogg, son of the groom, all of Racine.

LIVERYMEN MAY RAISE PRICES

CLAIM COST OF FEED WILL MAKE IT A NECESSITY.

OATS AND HAY ARE WAY UP

Customers Are More Particular as to Rigs Than They Formerly Were

Oats at three times the usual price, carriages more elaborate, and consequently more expensive, leather high, and a corresponding increase in harness rates, and horses selling above the usual mark. These are a few of the items that may lead to the establishment of a higher scale of prices among the local liverymen. Nothing definite has been accomplished as yet in the way of a general agreement, but nearly all of the dealers have been gradually raising their prices since the first of the year and it is expected that others will follow soon.

No Money In It

The general statement among the dealers is that there would be a loss if the stables were run now at the same prices which prevailed last year. One or two of them go so far as to say that they are only making expenses now, with the increase that went into force earlier this year. One of the liverymen made the statement that his July bill for feed this year was $235 higher than the same month in 1901.

At times oats have reached three or more times the usual rates and hay has been soaring skyward from the first of the year. And feed is not alone affected, but every commodity which enters into the liveryman's bill has increased in cost.

Public Asks Better Rigs

The public is not satisfied now with the same carriages and hacks that were counted all right a few years ago. Whereas a short time ago a liveryman could carry a complete line of iron-tired rigs, he must now have them rubber tired, with all of the latest trimmings of upholstery and nickel fixtures, or else some other man gets his trade.

More money must be paid for horses than was the case only recently, and harnesses are way up in price as the result of the shortage of leather. Altogether, so the liveryman says, one might with more profit go out of business than try to continue at the old scale.

Plan New Scale

Several of the proprietors of the stables expressed the belief that it would not be long before a uniform scale would be adopted by all of the local men. The increase which was made at the beginning of the year by one-third, and the present plan is to add about fifty cents to the charges. For example a rig for Sunday night that has formerly cost $1.50 will not be allowed to go out now for less than $2.00. This rate already prevails at some places, and the statement at those stables is that there has been no falling off in their trade under that scale.

CHANGES IN THE Y. M. C. A. STAFF

Keesler Resigns as Physical Instructor, and Mack Takes His Place.

E. C. Keesler has resigned his position as physical director of the Y. M. C. A. and has been succeeded by Walter Mack, of Battle Creek, Mich., who entered upon his new duties today. Mr. Mack is a young gentleman who has been engaged in Y. M. C. A. work for the past two years at Calumet, Mich., and he comes to the Janesville association with the best of recommendations.

Has No Plans

Mr. Keesler is undecided concerning his future work. He has been most efficient in the discharge of his duties as physical director and has been exceedingly popular with the boys and young men of the association by whom his departure will be sincerely regretted.

BEET-GROWING IN THE WEST

A JANESEVILLE RESIDENT WRITES OF THE INDUSTRY.

PROFIT IS LARGE TO FARMERS

Mr. W. J. McIntyre Advises Rock County Farmers to investigate.

Mr. W. J. McIntyre, a resident of Janesville, now making a trip to Albuquerque, N. M., writes the Gazette an interesting letter on beet growing in the western country where the lack of water makes the plan a difficult one. Mr. McIntyre believes that if beets can be successfully grown where the conditions are not good, the crops in Rock county should be made to pay better than tobacco. He says:

"I noticed in a recent number of the Gazette, which came to me in this Sahara of America, that the question of beet raising and the prospects of having a sugar beet factory in Janesville, was under discussion.

Visit Beet Country.

"On my trip out here, I stopped off a few days at Holly, a small town on the A. T. & S. F. line. Holly has about 400 inhabitants and is just across the western line of the state of Kansas. In the great valley of the Arkansas River. The town is in Powers county, Colorado. The soil is rich and very productive, but has to depend on irrigation for moisture as the rain fall is very light and none of the natural crops can be grown without irrigation.

"All the inhabitants are engaged in farming and stock raising. Among the productions of this section are wheat, oats, barley, kafir corn, Mexican beans, alfalfa melons, potatoes, garden vegetables, sugar beets, and fruits, such as strawberries, raspberries, apples, pears, peaches and apricots.

Irrigation Canal.

"The water used for the irrigation of this fertile spot is taken from the Arkansas River and stored in reservoirs. It is taken to be watered in canals and ditches and then run onto the crops. The whole system is controlled and owned by the Arkansas Valley Sugar Beet and Irrigated Land Co., who also own the most of the land in Powers county and some of the adjoining counties.

The land itself is worth from forty to fifty dollars an acre, according to its location from the water ditch and in addition a rental of fifty cents a year is charged for each acre irrigated, the settler making his own lateral.

Complaints Made.

"I have heard complaints made by the farmers that they do not get water and that the supply is not adequate for the crops they could raise had they more. But I started to tell something about the sugar beet industry, thinking that it might be interesting to my old friends and readers of the Gazette. Something about the way the beets are grown in this valley and what the farmers receive for them under the adverse circumstances that surround their crops.

The Beet Crops.

"The beets grown here are sold to the company that owns the land, who have a factory at Rocky Ford, about sixty or seventy miles from Holly. The farmers receive $4 to $1.50 a ton for their crop according to the test.

If the quantity grown in this vicinity is enough a factory will be placed here. As it now is the farmer hauls his products to Holly and ships them to the factory at Rock Ford. I am reliably informed that since the establishment of the factory at Rocky Ford land in its vicinity has increased from $40 to $200 an acre and is still advancing.

Average Crop.

"About Holly last year the average crop was eight tons to the acre but a scarcity of water reduced the crop materially and the average yield is about ten or twelve tons and frequently they obtain 20 tons an acre. I think that the labor required is not more than is required in the cultivation of an acre of tobacco and the money yield is much larger.

Money Made.

"One man writing from Rocky Ford says that from one acre of beets he got a gross yield of 41 tons, $41 per ton, and sold it for $179.08 in cash. Another says he received for nine and one-half acres $1,000 and another for three and one-half acres $315.16. I might enumerate other instances which would show about the same results, but these are enough to show that if this can be done in Colorado under difficulties, it can be done with much more success in Rock County.

The farmers of Rock county should carefully investigate the matter and thereby encourage the building of a factory in Janesville where I have no doubt it would be a paying venture. I believe that the prices to be obtained from the yield per acre to be greater than any other in comparison and think it worth careful investigation."

Absolutely Painless.

Miss Nellie Hollis, Chatham street, says that she recently called upon Dr. Richards in his office over Hall, Sayles & Fifield's and that he actually put the nerves of her face to sleep and drilled and filled several sensitive teeth without the slightest pain whatever. She says she now knows the right dentist to go to.

NAVAL FORCE IS TOO SMALL

MUST MAN NEW BATTLESHIPS

Navigation Chief Believes That Trained Fighters Are an Absolute Necessity if the Navy Is to Maintain Its Present High Rank.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 4.—Forty thousand men will comprise the enlisted force personnel of the navy if Rear Admiral Henry C. Taylor, chief of the bureau of navigation, can bring it about. In his next annual report Rear Admiral Taylor will recommend a substantial increase in the number of men authorized by law. The limit of enlistments now fixed is 25,000, and while this is sufficient for the present needs of the navy, it will not be high enough to permit the commissioning of ships under construction and which congress will authorize in the next few years.

For the two battleships and two armored cruisers recently appropriated for 2,500 men will be required. For the eighteen battleships built or under construction 9,805 men are required. Adding to this number the crews needed for the proposed battleships almost 11,000 men, nearly half of the present effective force, will be required to man this type of man of war alone.

Must Provide Many Crews.

When all the armored cruisers authorized are built the United States will possess ten of this class and they will require 7,197 men properly to care for and fight them. The line of battleships, therefore, must have 17,002 men in order to go into action. Besides these ships, crews must be provided for ten monitors, twenty-seven cruisers, forty-six gunboats, sixty torpedo boat destroyers and torpedo boats, and a number of auxiliary vessels.

Of course, all these vessels will not in time of peace be kept in commission, but a goodly proportion of them must be continued in service, and 40,000 men will be needed for them. Rear Admiral Taylor does not intend to recommend in his forthcoming annual report that the enlisted force be increased from 25,500 to 40,000 men. The increase he will suggest will be gradual, and will extend over a number of years.

At the same time, the rear admiral believes the navy should have an ample number of men who can be trained in the serious business of war and be ready for action when the moment arrives.

Need Trained Men.

Naval experts say that the volunteer soldier may be transformed promptly into a good soldier, but time is required to fit a greenhorn to become a man of wars man, and that it is far more desirable to have a navy prepared than to attempt to improvise one in time of war.

Rear Admiral Taylor's views with respect to the increase of the enlisted personnel are understood to be in harmony with those entertained by the president and Secretary Moody. In his annual message the President is expected by the navy to repeat his recommendation for an increase not only of men but of officers.

Secretary Moody undoubtedly will recommend an increase of officers. Before his departure from Washington he stated that he had become convinced that there were not sufficient line officers to attend to strictly naval duties, and that an increase of the commissioned force is necessary.

New Federal Inspector.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—A new Federal position has been established in Chicago. The office is held by William D. Collyer, and his title is "Inspector of dairy exports and renovated butter factories and markets."

The New Woman At Work

SHE goes on her way rejoicing, gain and victory all along the line! Men, poor dears, do not yet know what is just best for themselves, but they are giving legal and civil rights to women as fast as they learn that these are as good for her as for themselves. And I must say they are on the whole doing well. The Woman's Journal lately brought out its good old dove with the olive branch to celebrate the enactment of the law giving Massachusetts mothers equal guardianship with fathers over their children. This is a victory that strikes at the very heart of the sex tyranny, and men passed the law. Thank them; women everywhere do. But Massachusetts mothers, mothers everywhere, do you know through whose persistent work for nearly a generation this just and humane law was passed? Well, it was the woman suffragists. It was not the antisuffrage women. The antisuffrage women never yet had a law passed that benefited their sex, and they never will do so. The Woman's Journal remarks also that it ought to have a whole flock of doves to commemorate the splendid triumph of women in Australia. That triumph is the greatest that the feminine sex has ever achieved. The women of all Australia, throughout its six provinces of New South Wales, Tasmania, Victoria and East, South and West Australia, now have full and complete suffrage, precisely the same as men, and are equally eligible to office. Thus Australia has advanced several degrees of civilization beyond the United States, with all its vaunted liberty and equality. Australia, too, is under a hereditary monarchical government, but it is this day freer than the greatest republic upon earth, and its people in general are better off financially. I really feel tempted to break away and go to Australia to live.

Miss Edna Murphy, who started in life as a trained nurse, has invented a churn that will bring first class butter in forty-five seconds. An attachment also of Miss Murphy's invention can be applied to it, converting it into an egg beater or an ice cream freezer at pleasure. Miss Murphy is an emancipator of woman in the country.

Several American women are really skilled animal painters. One, Miss Maudita Lotz, living in Paris, makes pictures of lions, horses, camels and cattle. She is called the American Rosa Bonheur. Mrs. Georgia Timken Fry, who has recently returned to America after being in Europe eight years and who will probably settle in New York city, has made a specialty of sheep, with distinguished success. Miss Elizabeth Strong, who obtained her first art instruction in San Francisco, is also a promising young animal painter. She tried to establish herself in her native land, but failed to get encouragement. Then she went back to Paris, where her student life was passed after leaving San Francisco, and there she resides. Her specialty is dogs and children. She tries dogs alone at first, but could not make a "go" of them. Then she added children and is now very successful.

The highest examination rating ever given to an applicant for license to practice pharmacy in New York state was received by a woman, Mrs. Marcella Harmon of Syracuse. She has a drugstore of her own. How about that gray matter?

According to British census returns, nearly a third of all the women in England must remain husbandless. Miss Collett congratulates the empire on the possession of this "compact band of well instructed, healthy minded, vigorous, permanent spinsters." But unfortunately the spinster by no means unanimously looks at it in that congratulatory light.

A white male voter in Michigan who undertook to write his own will was so ignorant that he put down the word "Indigent" when he meant indigent and thus left his property to establish a home for "indigent old women." The indignation came in when it was found that because of the intelligent white male voter's misspelling the will would not stand.

Minnesota has a woman, Dr. Adela S. Richardson, on its state board of medical examiners. Another woman physician, Lillian G. Bullock, is president of the Massachusetts Eclectic Medical society. The world has moved since the men medical students of forty years ago mobbed, hissed and insulted the noble young women who were trying to become physicians.

The men public school superintendents in New York city have recommended that the board of education make the ruling that women teachers shall not be eligible to promotion, advancement of any sort or even to take the examination for high school teachers after they are forty years old, but that men—"we men"—shall be eligible till the age of fifty. A lively editor has recently written an article trying to prove that the hog is not yet the national emblem of the United States, but this looks as if he were, doesn't it? ELIZA ARCHARD CONNER.

ANDREWS CASE NEARLY ENDED

Likely to Be in the Hands of the Jury by Wednesday.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 4.—The prosecution in the trial of Frank C. Andrews, charged with wrecking the City Savings bank, closed its case Saturday morning. Irvine B. Unger, cashier of the former Preston National bank, was too ill to appear, and his testimony taken at the police court examination was read. The defense has but few witnesses, and it is expected that the case will go to the jury by the middle of the week.

CRUISE IS NOT EXPENSIVE

Winter Naval Maneuvers Entail Little Additional Cost.

Washington, Aug. 4.—Stories to the effect that the winter naval maneuvers in the West Indies will involve an immense expenditure, figures as high as $1,000,000 being given, are denied at the navy department. On the contrary, it is pointed out at the department that these evolutions will entail very little additional expense over the ordinary cost of maintenance of vessels in commission and on cruising duty.

Shoots His Brother-in-Law.
Colorado Springs, Colo., Aug. 4.—R. R. Taylor, a pioneer and proprietor of a bookstore, shot and killed Frank L. Shrader, a railroad brakeman. Taylor surrendered, but aside from declaring that his act was justifiable refused to talk about the shooting of Shrader, who was his brother-in-law.

The First Mitts Worn.

Under the reign of Louis XIV, leather gloves were worn by men only, and these resembled the war gauntlets of the ancient monarchy. During his reign women displayed the beauty of their hands and jewels by wearing long silk or lace mittens very much like those set forth by the importers this season.

Difference in Literary Men.
It is curious that while President Patton retires from the charge of Princeton in order to devote himself more completely to literary work, Prof. Woodrow Wilson, who succeeds him, has made his reputation largely by literary work, which he must now relinquish for the exacting duties of the presidency.

MALARIA An Invisible Enemy to Health

Means bad air, and whether it comes from the low lands and marshes of the country, or the filthy sewers and drain pipes of the cities and towns, its effect upon the human system is the same.

These atmospheric poisons are breathed into the lungs and taken up by the blood, and the foundation of some long, debilitating illness is laid. Chills and fever, chronic dyspepsia, torpid and enlarged liver, kidney troubles, jaundice and biliousness are frequently due to that invisible foe, Malaria. Noxious gases and unhealthy matter collect in the system because the liver and kidneys fail to act, and are poured into the blood current until it becomes so polluted and sluggish that the poisons literally break through the skin, and carbuncles, boils, abscesses, ulcers and various eruptions of an indolent character appear, depleting the system, and threatening life itself.

The germs and poisons that so oppress and weaken the body and destroy the life-giving properties of the blood, rendering it thin and watery, must be overcome and carried out of the system before the patient can hope to get rid of Malaria and its effects.

S. S. S. does this and quickly produces an entire change in the blood, reaching every organ and stimulating them to vigorous, healthy action. S. S. S. possesses not only purifying but tonic properties, and the general health improves, and the appetite increases almost from the first dose. There is no Mercury, Potash, Arsenic or other mineral in S. S. S. It is strictly and entirely a vegetable remedy.

Write us about your case, and our physicians will gladly help you by their advice to regain your health. Book on blood and skin diseases sent free.

INTERURBAN STARTS TODAY
First Cars Will Be Run Between Beloit and Rockford

Unless some unforeseen circumstances shall arise the interurban road between Rockford and Beloit will have its first full day's schedule of runs, with power from the Beloit house today. Citizens in the latter town are skeptical, and will not believe it until the last car has safely returned, but it has been announced that the trips will be actually made today, despite the many false alarms that have been sent out before. The cars arrived the last of last week and the power house is in readiness to furnish the current.

Beloit Torn up.

Beloit looks as though a small cyclone had struck its principal streets while the work of building the tracks through the city is going on. From the Bridge street bridge in both directions, work has been going on with a large gang of Italian laborers. On Fourth street the rails have been laid for considerable distances, but in the other direction, from the bridge State street has just been reached.

NEWS OF THE CITY IN CRIEF.

W. R. C. Meeting: Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 at the corps hall.

Take a Day Off: The Unique club held an outing at their camp ten miles up the river yesterday.

Concert Tuesday: Tuesday evening, in the court house park, will be given the next concert by the Imperial Band, not Monday, as was first announced.

Missionary Meeting: The Woman's Foreign Mission Circle of the Court Street M. E. church will meet with Mrs. Campbell, 206 South Academy street, on Wednesday, August 6 at 2:45 o'clock in the afternoon.

Subject: "Outdoor Meetings and Mexico." Missionary gleanings for quotations. Let every member strive to be present.

That St. Paul Depot: The brick layers are again at work on the new St. Paul passenger station. Several carloads of facing brick have arrived, and the work will be rushed along without further delay. The workmen now have the walls up to the top of the window frames and door casings.

Not Mouat's Mine: The Jefferson mine at Spring Green, Wis., is not owned entirely by P. J. Mouat. The mine is owned by the Jefferson Mining Co., a corporation, the stock being owned principally by M. G. Jeffris and George G. Sutherland. Mr. Mouat is a stockholder and one of the promoters of the corporation.

Common Council Meets: There will be a regular meeting of the common council at the council chambers this evening. The only matters of importance that are likely to be taken up is the street assessment committee's report on South Jackson and Court Streets and on the application for a telephone franchise.

To Rest Thoroughly: Edward Smith, the veteran night-watchman on the west side of the river, will take a well-deserved vacation from his duties and will spend the next sixty days in recreation. Mr. Smith took up the duties of night-watchman twenty-four years ago in October and has been on duty almost continually since that time. While he is taking his lay-off Miles Cox will attend to his work for him.

Elected Officers: Saturday night the members of the B. M. I. U. held their regular meeting and installed officers for the ensuing year as follows: President, Julius Hager; vice president, H. Karle; secretary, S. P. Williams; financial secretary, E. L. Marshall; Trustees, one year, Andrew Christiansen; six months, W. J. Hilt.

Excursion Tonight: Members and friends of the Local Union of Christian Endeavor Societies and Epworth Leagues, will enjoy an excursion up the river this evening in place of the customary quarterly meeting. Light refreshments will be served and there will be a brief program given on the boat. The steamer will leave the dock at 7 o'clock.

Lost The Music: The Fairbanks Morse & Co. band were in quite a predilection for a while yesterday. The man who had charge of the music fell by the wayside before he reached the boat landing and lost the music. Later in the day he was picked up by Officer Fanning and given a chance to sober up.

Work on Bridge: Cullen Bros. started this morning laying cedar blocks on the south side of Milwaukee street bridge. This side of the bridge will be finished up and the balance left until after the carnival. The delay in finishing the balance of the work is caused by the non-arrival of a carload of lumber which has been lost or delayed in transit. For fear that they would have the bridge torn up during the carnival, which would interfere seriously with the success of the affair they have decided to wait until later before taking up the balance of the work.

Likes Janesville: Count DeButz of Chicago, the hobo bicycle rider, who gave street performances in the city Saturday night and at Crystal Springs Park Sunday, left the city today for Stoughton, where he will make his next stop. With the paint washed from his face and a suit of unpatched clothes, he is an interesting conversationalist with a fund of reminiscence and anecdote. In speaking of Janesville, he said that from a financial standpoint his visit here was not very successful, but that he thought that for amusement's sake, he would like to live here permanently, that is, for at least a week, if it was only for the sake of becoming acquainted with officer Hogan. Hobo DeButz tells with sorrow, of one time when he was forced to spend three weeks in Chicago, without change of environment.

TURF NEWS

Saturday's Racing Was Remarkable For Its Performances

Saturday was a red letter day on the trotting turf. At Hartford, Conn., Lord Derby defeated Borralma in the $40,000 match race; while at Columbus, O., McFerrin with Dan Patch lowered the record of his handsome sire, I've Patchen, 2:01 1/2, fully 3/4 of a second. Dan Patch is the most remarkable horse that has ever appeared upon the turf, having never lost a race and making a record of 2:00 3/4.

John Kelly

The many friends of John Kelly will be pleased to learn of his success in his initial race of 1902 at Hartford, Conn., on Saturday last when he won a race with the fast pacer, "Don Derby," over a field of good horses, pacing one of his heats in 2:07 1/2.

ARRIVE SAFELY

Rev. Denison and W. S. Jeffris Are In Ireland

Wm. Bladon received a letter today from Rev. R. C. Denison dated at Queenstown, July 25, which says "that he and W. S. Jeffris had an elegant trip across the ocean. He did not miss a meal and Mr. Jeffris was 'not much sea sick.' They will go first to Cork, Dublin and Belfast and then over to Liverpool. They expect to visit several of the large cathedral cities before they return and will also spend some time in London.

CASES IN COURT

Judge Fifield's Court: Judge Fifield is engaged today in hearing the case of the state of Wisconsin vs. Mary McDonald for using abusive language. Ida Zastopoul is the complaining witness. The parties reside in Monterey and are neighbors. M. P. Richardson appeared for the state and George G. Sutherland for the defense.

Justice Earle's Court: Settlement out of court between the parties concerned was brought about in the case of E. S. Williams and Wesley Allen. The complaint was filed before Justice Earle. The case of C. J. Folsom vs. Ida Burt is being tried today.

Memorial exercises for the late Dr. C. K. Adams were held at Madison in the Congregational church on Sunday.
